

USSR UNDER STALIN: GROUP LECTURE NOTES

1. Get into six groups of 5-6 and have out a highlighter and something to write with.
2. Read the handout first with the highlighter.
3. Discuss with your group what you think the main point was.
4. Read it again and take notes at the bottom of the page.
5. Compare your notes with the rest of your group. Decide on the five to ten most important pieces of information for your topic.
6. Put your notes into plain, everyday language.
7. As a group, create a new, original title for your information based off of the notes you rewrote.
8. Plan a drawing or symbolic representation of your information.
9. Get your poster paper and create your poster: sheet number and names in the top right corner, original title at the top, picture in the middle and notes at the bottom (large enough for the back of the room to read).
10. Plan your presentation. Write what you need to know on note cards, decide who says what when, and practice! This is not simply reading the information off of the poster in another way – you need to explain it out loud.
11. When all the groups are done, they will present in order with the class taking notes in the chart.
